

Raleigh International seeks PR for Indian expedition

9 November, 2007

Education charity Raleigh International is looking for a communications professional who wants to develop their professional skills by volunteering in a completely different environment.

The chosen PR will spend 13 weeks in India promoting Raleigh International's latest expedition.

The role will involve handling all PR for Raleigh's inaugural expedition to India and will be based at their headquarters in Mysore.

In addition to dealing with the Indian national and regional press, the volunteer communications manager will be handling communication between the 100 young volunteers on the expedition with frequent reporting back to the UK.

Raleigh International is a charity that provides adventurous and challenging expeditions for people from all backgrounds, nationalities and ages, especially young people.

If you are up for the challenge of a lifetime and are interested in a career break or grown up gap year with Raleigh International, call 020 7183 1271 or email volunteermanagers@raleigh.org.uk

ENDS

For further background about Raleigh International, photography or case studies, please contact anne.consedine@raleigh.org.uk, 0781 804 8438.